WHAT'S THE STORY...

Tori was walking through the park like she does every morning when the warm summer sun suddenly disappeared. She looked up, only to see a purple cloud covering the sun. Suddenly, she heard a crack of thunder, & the sky opened up. "It wasn't supposed to rain today," she said to no one in particular.

Tori felt a giant raindrop splash her cheek, and reached up to wipe it away; but when she glanced at her hand, it came away dark green.
